

Ibero-American studies

Students at the University of Melbourne are offered a comprehensive range of subjects in Hispanic and Iberian studies through complementary course arrangements with the Spanish Program at La Trobe University. The program offers Spanish language, literature and linguistics at a number of different levels; Portuguese language in both its forms (those of Portugal and Brazil); and Catalan.

Interested students should see the entry under Spanish (p.1) for more information.

