

Asian studies

Convener: Dr Wu Yunji (MIALS)

The Asian studies program at the University of Melbourne is ideal for students who wish to acquire a broad understanding of Asian societies and cultures. Students can combine language study with subjects that draw on teaching and research from a number of areas of study in arts that address the frameworks through which Asian societies can be understood. The program provides students with a comparative view of Asian societies through a critical and interdisciplinary approach. Students may also choose to specialise in a particular region of study to enhance their future career choices.

Asian studies is one of a number of departments that constitute the Melbourne Institute of Asian Languages and Societies (MIALS). The institute was established in 1998 as a major teaching and research initiative of the University of Melbourne. MIALS serves to strengthen the University's role as a major international centre for the development of studies in Asian languages and societies. Students who specialise in Asian studies develop transferable skills that will enhance their career options. Alternatively, they are able to expand on their interest and knowledge through an articulated structure of higher degree study options at the University of Melbourne.

Asian studies draws on collaborations with other faculties and departments at the University of Melbourne to offer a comprehensive program of study in the rich languages and intellectual, cultural, legal, political and religious traditions of Asia. Religious, political, social and economic aspects are considered with a focus on Japan, China, Indonesia, the Islamic world, and other South-east and East Asian societies.

Faculty of Arts requirements

Within the Asian studies major, only those subjects offered by departments of the Faculty of Arts are arts-approved; see Arts-approved subject requirement (p.4). Combined degree students may not be able to undertake subjects offered by the Faculties of Economics and Commerce, and Law, and should contact a course adviser for advice.

Prerequisites

The Asian studies program commences in second year. The general prerequisite for entry is the completion of 50 points of first year in any areas of study within the Faculty of Arts.

The following first-year subjects are recommended for students interested in undertaking a major in Asian studies:

Requirements for a major

A major in Asian studies usually consists of nine 12.5-point subjects, totalling 112.5 points. It comprises:

- two first-year subjects from any area of study (25 points); and
- seven second/third-year subjects (87.5 points) which must include:
  - 131-146 Inventing Asian Traditions (p.13), the program's compulsory subject (12.5 points); and
  - six subjects from the list of Asian studies subjects below.

Asian studies subjects

The following second/third-year, third-year, and third/fourth-year subjects are part of the Asian studies program. You must consult the relevant area of study entries in this Handbook to make sure that you meet the prerequisites, if any, for these subjects. The usual prerequisite for entry to a third-year subject is 25 points of second/third year in that area. The usual prerequisite for entry to a third/fourth-year subject is 37.5 points at second/third-year in that area.

Combined honours entry

Honours coordinator: Dr Wu Yunji

Currently there is no pure honours program in Asian studies. This means that students must combine fourth-year honours in Asian studies with another area of study.

The prerequisites for entry to combined honours in Asian studies are:

- completion of all the requirements for the BA; and
- completion of a major in Asian studies; and
- an average grade of H2B or higher over the second/third-year subjects within the major; and
- admission to honours in another area of study within the Arts Faculty.

Students intending to take combined honours in Asian studies are advised to undertake at least some elementary study of an Asian language.

Application procedure

Entry to honours must be approved by the convenor of Asian studies and the Faculty of Arts honours course adviser.

Prospective honours students intending to undertake their thesis in Asian studies should submit an outline of their proposed course of study and a thesis proposal to the convenor of Asian studies during Semester 2 of the academic year preceding commencement of honours.

Combined honours requirements

Students undertaking combined honours in Asian studies and another area of study must complete:

- 110-573 Asian Studies Thesis (p.2) or 110-580 Asian Studies Thesis (MYE) (p.3) (37.5 points); and
- two honours subjects in Asian studies (25 points); and
- three honours subjects in the combined area of study (totalling 37.5 points).

or

- honours thesis in the combined area of study (37.5 points); and
- two honours subjects in the combined area of study (25 points); and
- three honours subjects in Asian studies (37.5 points).

Subjects offered at third/fourth-year not already completed at third-year level are also available to Asian studies combined honours students, see Asian studies subjects (p.1).

Students may take relevant fourth-year subjects from other areas of study including language with the permission of the convenor of Asian studies.
